Round River Conservation Studies

Earn credits while doing field research!

Round River Conservation Studies is a research and education organization. We offer field-based study abroad programs where students work with local people to study, protect, and restore wild places. Earn credits in conservation biology, natural history, environmental policy, and experience the cultures of indigenous peoples. On our program you’ll gain research skills, earn credits, and assist with local conservation efforts.

Namibia • Botswana • Patagonia • British Columbia

Wednesday Oct 1st
5pm: Information Session in Aiken Center (Rm 311)
6pm: Information Session in Davis Center (Rm 415)

Thursday Oct 2nd
7pm: Free Pizza and Information Session (Green House dorm, UHS, Rm 27)

www.roundriver.org

For more information contact:
Susie@roundriver.org